Course Description:

When did Modern China begin? What do we mean by this term? Can we understand the modern history of China, if we only focus on the Chinese response to the arrival of Western powers in the region? This course will examine the political, intellectual and social development of China since ca. 1700. Attention will be given to traditional Chinese culture and society, peasant revolutions, the May Fourth Movement, the rise of nationalism and communism, and domestic developments since the 1949 founding of the People’s Republic of China. Comparing and analyzing a variety of primary source materials, we will write our own history of China, and in the end develop our skill to observe societies with different origins than our own.

Students taking this course should reach the following goals by the end of the semester:

• Construct persuasive written arguments concerned with historical topics.
• Utilize the latest methods of Web-based technology to communicate with fellow students.
• Learn of the fundamental historical development of China from ca. 1700 to the present day.
• Understand better the effect the recent past has had on the modern world.
• Exhibit self-motivation and self-expression by exploring and asking questions regarding historical topics beyond personal life experiences.

Assignment and Grading

1. Class attendance and participation (10%): Class participation in the discussion of the reading materials and attendance is essential. Absences of more than 1 meeting will be marked down and will affect your final grade.

2. Weekly responses (20%): You are required to answer to several questions posted on Blackboard about TEN readings. You are to submit a-paragraph, typed answers to each question after every Thursday class. No late submission is accepted.

3. Map Quiz (10%): A map quiz will be tested to identify regional names and locations in China and some parts of East Asia. No make-up quiz will be offered.

4. Group Presentation (20%): 2-3 students will make a group presentation based on the assigned readings for the selected week. The group presentation in class should be around 20 minutes. It is a group project, therefore each group member will receive same grade regardless of their different contributions to presentation.

5. Mid-term Exam (20%): There is an exam in class on October 12th (Thursday). Questions are selected from lectures, class discussions, and weekly readings. No make-up quiz will be offered.

6. Final Take Home Exam (20%): There is a 5 page, typed take-home exam. Cumulative exam based on lectures, class discussions, and weekly readings. Questions will be given on the last day of the class, November 30th (Thursday). The exams will be due in my office no later than 5 pm on December 7th (Thursday). No late submission or submission via email is accepted.

Class Regulations

1. No incomplete is given for this class.

2. Laptops can be used during the class, but no web browsing is allowed. If it is found, points will be deducted from the class attendance and participation.
