Course Description

This class examines global issues in the contemporary world, focusing mainly on the post-World War II period, from the dropping of atomic bombs on Japan in August 1945, to the complex, high-tech, evolving world of today. We will view this history from the point of view of those living it, including students in the class themselves. Everyone has an “historical consciousness,” an understanding of the way the world became what it is today, and the main purpose of this class is to introduce students to alternative ways of interpreting history by weighing the merits of differing points of view. We will examine the world by regions with a number of themes in mind: the Cold War; the rise & fall of communism; nationalism; the rise of terrorism; de-colonization/neo-colonialism; the international economy; racial, ethnic, & religious conflict; gender; class; & environmental issues.

Course Goals & Objectives

- Students will learn that history is not just the memorization of dates and facts, but rather the interpretation of the past
- Students will acquire a knowledge of the key terms, facts, and events in contemporary world history and thereby gain an informed historical perspective
- Students will take from the class the skills to critically appraise varying historical arguments and to clearly express their own interpretations
- Students will learn how to critically read and distinguish between different types of historical sources and to “read between the lines” of differing points of view
- Students will experience “hands-on” work with primary source material and gain insight on how to interpret history through such sources
- Students will develop analytical skills and the ability to apply principles and generalizations learned in this class to other problems and situations
- Students will develop the ability to synthesize and integrate information and ideas as well as to distinguish between fact and opinion
- Students will be encouraged to develop an openness to new ideas and, most importantly, the capacity to think critically

Course Readings:

- Kite Runner, Khaled Hosseini
- When Heaven & Earth Changed Places, Le Ly Hayslip
- I, Rigoberta Menchu, Rigoberta Menchu and Elisabeth Burgos-Debray
- Online material identified below
- Optional: The World Transformed: 1945 to the Present, Michael H. Hunt

Course Web Page: The extensive course web page at www.uncg.edu/~jwjones/world has class notes and readings; Video and Audio Archives; Maps; Visual Tours; Internet Resources; and Internet Assignments. We will also utilize aspects of the Blackboard course web page.

Course Activities:	Two 3-4 page papers	15% each
	Midterm Exam	15%
	Participation	30%
	Final Exam	25%

Papers: There are two papers for the course (3-4 pages, double-spaced, 12-point font) that are worth 15% each. The first is a set topic at the beginning of the semester (see the assignment below), while the other one allows for a choice of possible topics (see the topics on the course web page and the due date below). Refer to the Paper Guidelines for these assignments. All essays will be graded on the basis of these criteria:

- 1) Level of analysis/argumentation. Present a thoughtful argument and interpretation, not a mere summary of facts. (Note: it does not matter which side of an issue one argues, only how well or how poorly one makes the argument).
- 2) Use of evidence. The material you select to support your thesis must be relevant and must clearly back up your argument.
- 3) Clarity of communication. You must present the evidence and express your argument in a clear, comprehensible manner.

A = excellent performance on all three criteria. B = above average on all three, or excellent on some tempered by flaws in others. C = average across the board, or above average in part but with significant flaws. D = below average overall performance.

Exams: There is a midterm and a final for the course comprised of Identifications and Short Answer Questions. The exams cover only the part of the course for which they are designated so they are not cumulative. However, the final exam includes a comprehensive Take Home Essay (worth 10% of the overall course grade) that draws on broad themes dealt with all semester.

Participation: Your 30% participation grade is based on the Discussion Sections led by the Teaching Assistants. The grade consists of online Discussion Posts (1-2 paragraphs in response to the prompts designated below), Internet Assignments, and Reaction Pieces (1-2 pages; these are intended to be your reaction to or opinion of the readings, not a summary of the material) to the readings designated below. Attendance is required in the Discussion Sections; students have one excused absence without penalty, but unexcused absences and everything beyond the one excused absence will lead to 3 points being subtracted from the final participation grade.

Grading: Grades are compiled on a point system. For example, if you make a 88 on the 1st paper (13.2/15) + an 90 on the 2nd paper (13.5/15) + 86 on the Mid-term (12.9/15) + 90 on participation (27/30) + 88 on the Final (13.2/15) + 90 on your Final Take Home Essay (9/10), your Final Grade = 88.8 = 89 or B+. Grades will be posted on Blackboard.
