

Fall 2010 University of North Carolina at Greensboro
Dr. Lisa Levenstein E-mail: levenstein@uncg.edu
Office: 2145 MHRA Office Hours: M W 12-1, and by appt

HIS 342: U.S. Women and Their Bodies

This course examines the history of women and their bodies, focusing mainly on the twentieth century United States. While not a comprehensive survey, we will explore a range of topics such as sexuality, menstruation, birth control, abortion, breast cancer, and menopause. Special attention will be paid to the history of sexual and domestic violence. Students will use primary and secondary sources to examine how women's experiences with their bodies have changed over time and differed according to race, class, region, and sexual preference. We will also explore how and why women's bodies have become sites of political struggle and resistance.

Reading

Although the course does not have a required book, you will have a significant amount of reading on e-reserve that we will discuss in class. Anyone who cannot read 50-100 pages for each class and contribute to class discussion should not enroll in the course because you will not be able to succeed.

Grading (all percentages are approximate)

Attendance and participation (25%): This class depends on your participation and I expect you to attend and speak in every class. You will be graded on the quality and frequency of your participation. More than two absences will hurt your grade.

Reading Assignments (35%): You will be required to complete short assignments based on your readings, which must be turned in at the beginning of class. If you are absent you may still turn in your assignment as long as I receive it before 2pm on the day that it is due. If you miss a class you can find the reading assignment for the next class on blackboard. You may miss four (out of twenty-one) reading assignments over the course of the semester without penalty. Emergencies and illness count towards missed assignments. After missing four assignments, each subsequent missed assignment will result in a major reduction of your grade. Even if you choose not to complete the assignment, you must still read the assigned texts and contribute to class discussion. If you miss fewer than four assignments, I will count your highest grades.

Tests (2 x 20%): Two tests will require you to demonstrate mastery of key concepts covered in lectures, discussions, films, and readings.

I use the following grading scale: 93 and above A, 90-92 A-, 88-89 B+, 83-87 B, 80-82 B-, 78-79 C+, 73-77 C, 70-72 C-, 68-69 D+, 63-67 D, 60-62 D-, 59 and below F.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is presenting the words or ideas of others without giving them credit. Any source that you use in your work (i.e. books, documents, articles, web pages) must be properly cited. If you use someone else's exact words they must be enclosed in quotation marks and be followed by a citation. If you put someone else's ideas into your own words, you must also use a citation. Anyone who commits plagiarism will be penalized.

PLEASE NOTE: Plagiarism includes copying and pasting any text from the internet into a document without using quotation marks and a citation.

For more information, see UNCG's academic integrity policy:

<http://academicintegrity.uncg.edu/complete/>

I report all cases of plagiarism to the Dean of Students.

Technology: E-mail, Blackboard, Power Point, Laptops, and Cell Phones

E-mail is the best way to reach me. I will always confirm receipt of messages and try to respond quickly. If you do not receive a response from me within 48 hours, you should assume that I did not receive your message and try again. If you do not receive confirmation of your message, it means that I did not receive it and you will not be credited for any information that you communicated.

I will use e-mail to contact you, so you must check your UNCG email account regularly. All messages will be sent to UNCG accounts.

The course will have a blackboard website, which will have a copy of the syllabus, assignments, and links to the readings.

I will use power point in lecture. The slides are intended to help guide your note taking. They will not provide a complete set of notes. It is imperative that you take notes to supplement the power point in order to succeed in the course.

This is an interactive class that requires your engaged attention. You may not use laptops in the classroom. Cell phones and any other electronic equipment must also be turned off at all times. No texting or checking your phones during class.