Course Introduction:

Welcome to my online version of HIS208-05 Revolutions in Modern World History. Please read the syllabus very carefully and if you have any questions or concerns feel free to ask—I am always available through email. I will respond as quickly as possible, but please allow 24 hours for a response during weekdays and 36 hours on weekends.

You will need to have access to your Canvas account for this class, a basic understanding of how Canvas functions, and a reliable internet connection. All quizzes, exams, etc. will be posted there and you will have to make regular discussion postings (normally one per week) on forums that I will set up each week. Your quiz, exam, and discussion posting grades will be available on the Canvas grade book for the course. .

Procedures/Assignments:

It will be essential for you to keep up with your readings exactly as they are outlined in your syllabus. If you follow the guidelines in the syllabus and don't allow yourselves to fall behind, you should have no trouble managing the workload for this class. Unlike a face-to-face class, discussion of your assigned readings, documentary films, etc., will be handled through weekly response postings on Canvas. Your required responses will be to a question or series of questions that I will post to create each discussion forum. The specific requirements of your postings will be discussed in greater detail in a separate document that will be posted on Canvas. In addition, you will normally have one quiz per week based on that week's reading assignments. These quizzes will consist of 10 multiple choice questions and will have a 15 minute time limit. I will drop your two lowest quiz scores prior to calculating your final grade.

Attendance:

As this is a WEB based class, normal attendance guidelines do not apply. However, while you will have a certain amount of flexibility in completing assignments/quizzes, etc., please be aware that ALL assignments/quizzes/exams in this course have a time frame in which they must be completed! Students who repeatedly miss deadlines and/or frequently seek exemptions to stated guidelines will be dropped from the course. Any student who wishes to receive a grade of "W" must drop the class on or before Friday, October 9. All quizzes, discussion postings and exams must be completed and submitted through Blackboard by 11:59 PM of the date they are due. All academic weeks in this course begin on Monday and end on the following Sunday.

Academic Integrity:

On all graded assignments you will be expected to abide by the UNCG Academic Integrity Policy, which may be reviewed at <http://studentconduct.uncg.edu/policy/academicintegrity>

Learning Goals for this Course:

(These learning goals are applicable to both history majors and non-history majors alike.)

- Historical Comprehension: Students will be able to demonstrate proficiency in analyzing historical duration, succession, and change in terms of human agency and larger systems or structures in a wide variety of places and periods.
- Historical Analysis: Students will demonstrate ability to use historical thinking to contextualize and analyze primary and secondary sources representing different points of view.
- Historical Interpretation: Students will be able to use evidence-based reasoning to interpret the past coherently while developing and presenting an original argument, orally and in writing.
