*Do you remember the dark months you held the sector at Mametz-
The nights you watched and wired and dug and piled sandbags on parapets?*

Do you remember the rats; and the stench

Of corpses rotting in front of the front-line trench, -

And dawn coming, dirty-white, and chill with a hopeless rain?

Do you ever stop and ask, "Is it all going to happen again?"

- Aftermath by Siegfried Sassoon (1919)

Course Description

The First World War began in the summer of 1914 as a conflict between the Great Powers of Europe, but quickly escalated from a continental contest between two powerful alliances to a war whose scale would grow to include Africa, Asia, Oceania, and the Americas (North, Central, and South). Referred to at the time as "The War to End All Wars", its aftermath would lead to future conflicts throughout the twentieth century and into the twenty-first. This course will explore the causes that pushed the European powers towards war, how and why it expanded beyond Europe, and the effects of the conflict on the nature of warfare and on the societies who committed to the fighting. This course will also analyze the consequences of The Great War such as the decline or collapse of the European powers, the Russian Revolution, the rise of the United States as a world power, and a bitter peace that arguably paved the way for an even more devastating conflict.

This course will provide an invaluable and interdisciplinary skillset to history majors and nonmajors alike by teaching how to critically interpret and analyze the past. The main goal of this course is to teach students how to understand changes over time, be able to describe how and why these changes occurred, and to use primary and secondary historical sources as evidence for interpretation and analysis. Students should by the end of this course also have a greater understanding of how the causes and consequences of the First World War shaped the world in which they live today.

Course Goals and Outcomes:

A. General Education Historical Perspectives Student Learning Outcomes (GHP)

1. Use a historical approach to analyze and contextualize primary and secondary sources representing divergent perspectives. (GHP 1)
2. Use evidence to interpret the past coherently, orally and/or in writing. (GHP 2)

B. The Global Perspectives Student Learning Outcomes (GL)

1. Find, interpret, and evaluate information on diverse cultures.
2. Describe interconnections among regions of the world. (Must include substantial focus on at least one culture, nation, or sub-nationality beyond Great Britain and North America).
3. Use diverse cultural frames of reference and alternative perspectives to analyze issues.

Required Reading:

Meyer, G. J. A World Undone: The Story of the Great War, 1914-1918. New York: Bantam Dell, 2007.

Neiberg, Michael S. The World War I Reader: Primary and Secondary Sources. New York: New York University Press, 2006.

Any additional readings will be made available on Canvas. Be sure to read these before class along with the regular reading in order to participate in class discussion.

Writing Assignments:

There will be two writing assignments for the course this semester. Use MLA format and 12-point font when writing these papers. Handouts with further information will be provided in advance.

Writing Assignment 1: The Decision for War – With the exception of Great Britain, Canada, or the United States, choose any one of the nations that participated in WWI and write a 3-5-page paper on why that nation chose to enter the war. Be sure to describe the circumstances that led to that particular nation joining the war effort and why they joined a particular side (Allied Powers or Central Powers). Due September 28

Writing Assignment 2: The Consequence of War – When a nation decides to go to war, the course and/or outcome of that war can either benefit or threaten the future of that nation's standing in many ways, such as that of international prestige and quality of life for its citizens. While some nations emerged from the Great War stronger than ever before, other nations who had enjoyed "great power" status for centuries either found their power diminished or their empires had collapsed entirely. Choose any one of the nations that participated in WWI, and write a 3-5-page paper describing how participation in the war either (or both) positively or negatively impacted it. Due November 28

Class Policies

1) ATTENDANCE

Attendance at class meetings is not only required, but is also essential to passing this course. Students are permitted three unexcused absences, and excused absences will require either a doctor’s note or some other form of legitimate documentation. If a student has more than six absences, it may result in being dropped from the class. Along with the expectation that students attend this course, it is also expected that students be on time. Three instances of tardiness by an individual student will be counted as an absence.

2) CLASS PARTICIPATION

As mentioned earlier, attendance is required and essential. Class participation is the reason it is essential. Because demonstrating that they are analyzing and interpreting historical events and materials is the primary goal of this course, students are expected to demonstrate that they have read the required material prior to the assigned class and be prepared to discuss it.

3) LATE ASSIGNMENTS

Assignments that are not turned in by hardcopy to me in class by the assigned due date will be deducted 10 points from 100 for each day it is late. Assignments not turned in within ten days of the due date will not be accepted.

4) PLAGIARISM AND ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Plagiarism in any form will not be tolerated. Historical study and research relies on the proper use of primary and secondary sources, and students are expected to properly cite any materials that are used in their writing assignments. Any instance of plagiarism will result in a zero for the assignment, and will be reported to the Dean of Students Office for appropriate action. Blatant plagiarism (such as copying and pasting text) or cheating will be grounds for failing the course and will be reported to the Dean of Students Office. For the full Academic Integrity Policy of the University, go to the website listed here:
