Course Introduction:

Welcome to an online version of HIS217-02 The World in the Twentieth Century (1900-1945). This is a WEB based course in which you will cover the same material/content as in the face-to-face version that I frequently teach. Please read the syllabus very carefully and if you have any questions or concerns please feel free to ask—I am always available through email. I will respond as quickly as possible to your emails, but please allow 24 hours for a response during weekdays and 36 hours on weekends.

You will obviously need to have access to your Canvas account for this class and a basic understanding of how Canvas functions. All assignments and exams will be posted there and you will have to make regular discussion postings (normally one per week) on forums that I will create. Your grades for each assignment throughout the semester will be available in the Canvas grade book.
MAC  Global Engagement and Intercultural Learning:

Upon successful completion of this course students will be able to:

- SLO #1: Describe dynamic elements of different cultures. These elements may include (but are not limited to) aesthetic systems, communication systems, economics, physical environments, ethics, gender norms, geography, history, politics, religious principles, or social beliefs, norms and practices.

  SLO #1 will be primarily accomplished through the midterm and final exam essays.

- SLO #2: Explain how similarities, differences, and connections among different groups of people or environmental systems affect one another over time and place.

  SLO #2 will be primarily accomplished through the weekly discussion posting assignments and the film analysis paper.

Procedures/Assignments:

It will be essential for you to keep up with your readings exactly as they are outlined in your syllabus. If you follow the guidelines in the syllabus and don’t allow yourselves to fall behind, you should have no trouble managing the workload for this class. Unlike a face-to-face class, discussion of your assigned readings, documentary films, etc., will be handled through weekly response postings on Canvas. Your required responses will be to a question or series of questions that I will post to create each discussion forum.

Attendance:

As this is a WEB based class, normal attendance guidelines do not apply. However, while you will have a certain amount of flexibility in completing assignments or exams, please be aware that ALL assignments/exams in this course have a limited time frame in which they must be completed! Students who repeatedly miss deadlines and/or frequently seek exemptions to stated guidelines will be dropped from the course. Any student who wishes to receive a grade of “W” must drop the class on or before Friday, October 7. All discussion postings, assignments, and exams must be completed and submitted through Canvas by 11:59 PM of the date they are due in order to receive full earned credit. All academic weeks in this course—with the exception of week one—begin on Monday and end at 11:59PM on the following Sunday.
Grading:

Discussion Postings 40%
Film Analysis Paper 20%
Midterm Exam 20%
Final Exam 20%

Course Total 100%

This course is graded on a 10 point scale and +/- are assigned to final grades when warranted.

Policy, which may be reviewed at http://studentconduct.uncg.edu/policy/academicintegrity.
Please review this important document with an attention to detail, and feel free to ask questions if there is any part of the policy which you do not understand.  This course has a zero tolerance policy regarding plagiarism!
Additional Info:

While this course is chronologically and thematically supported by a survey textbook (Duiker, Contemporary World History) please note that you will be reading another, more specifically focused book at the same time throughout the semester. For roughly the first half of the semester you will be reading Margaret Macmillan’s Paris, 1919 and for roughly the second half of the semester you will be reading David Faber’s Munich, 1938. Again, each of these will be in addition to weekly readings from the Duiker textbook. It will be absolutely imperative that you keep up with your reading as your weekly discussion postings will be based directly on each week’s respective reading assignments. Normally each week’s discussion posting will be made available to you on Canvas by early Monday morning of each week. Discussion postings are weighted at 40% of your overall grade for the course. The midterm essay and final exam essay are weighted at 20%, with your film analysis assignment also weighted at 20%. You may complete each week’s discussion posting assignment at any time during the academic week, but remember that the deadline for each academic week is 11:59PM on Sundays.
