HIS 701: Colloquium in American History
Course Syllabus

Covering the period from Encounter to Reconstruction, this colloquium hones in on key moments in American history. This course will also expose students to history from a variety of different perspectives, methodologies and approaches. Students will analyze and evaluate scholarly work and position them within the historiography through a series of three papers.

Course Requirements: The requirements for this course include assigned readings for each class and three papers.

Assigned Readings: There are thirteen books assigned for this course. For the list of books, see the class schedule below. All of the books can be purchased at the University Bookstore.

Attendance and Late Policy: Attendance in class is mandatory. The door will close ten minutes after class starts. Once the door closes, students will no longer be admitted to the class and will be considered absent. Students are allowed one absence, excused or unexcused, without an impact on their grade. For the second and every subsequent absence, students will receive a five-point grade deduction. Assignments submitted in class are due at the beginning of the class period. Students who submit assignments after the deadline will be penalized with a grade deduction based on the lateness of the assignment. No assignments will be accepted one week after the due date. All assignments must be submitted in hard copy.

Plagiarism Policy: The University defines plagiarism as: “Representing the words, thoughts, or ideas of another, as one’s own in any academic exercise.”¹ (See the University's Academic Integrity Policies for further information.) All sources (books, articles, documents, internet sites, etc.) used in any paper or assignment must be properly cited or will be considered plagiarism. Any instance of plagiarism will receive a zero and will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for appropriate action, including suspension or expulsion from the University.
