GUIDELINES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

1. ATTENDANCE POLICY: We require regular attendance for this course. We cover a great deal of material and one absence could mean missing one hundred years or more of European history! If you are not prepared to attend consistently, come on time, and stay until the end of the class period, please drop the course. If you miss more than 3 classes you may be dropped from the course at the sole discretion of the instructors. If you miss 3 classes in a row you will definitely be dropped. Students who do not attend the first two classes of the semester or notify an instructor will be dropped so that others may add in. Please notify your instructor if you know in advance that you will need to miss a class.

2. ATTENTIVENESS POLICY: If you are not prepared to pay attention and take careful notes during class periods, please drop this course. We do not make seating assignments, but if we find that students are talking together during class and behaving in such a way that distracts us or other students we will require them to change their seats. Laptop computers are not permitted in the classroom, except in documented cases of medical need. In those cases students are required to seat themselves so as not to distract others. Cellphones and other electronic equipment must be turned off and placed out of sight during the class period.

3. Please read the material specified for a given class period or periods before coming to class. It is ESSENTIAL that you keep up with the syllabus. If you lose your copy, just ask your instructor for another or download a copy from the History Department website: www.uncg.edu/his

4. Please bring to class your hard copy of the primary source readings for that day. We will be examining texts together in class. You will need to download and print all the texts on e-reserves at the beginning of the semester.

5. Grades will be based upon a series of quizzes administered during the Friday discussion periods, as well as take-home midterm and final essay exams. Your instructor will describe these assignments in more detail during the course of the semester. The take-home essay exams must be word-processed, double-spaced, spell-checked, with standard 1” margins and 12-point font. We require hard copies of assignments; e-mail attachments will only be accepted with prior permission and in exceptional cases. We expect correctness and clarity of exposition as well as an understanding of the course content. To us, history and the way in which it is expressed are not two different things, but are rather, intimately connected. We will factor in class participation when assigning grades, including questions, comments, and responses to texts, videos, and other media. We also take notice of students’ general mental alertness and intellectual engagement with and curiosity about the material. These are all important factors in university learning. Grades will be computed according to this rough breakdown: Midterm 30%, Final 30%, Quizzes 25%, Participation 15%.
6. All assignments are due on the days specified on the syllabus.

RESPONSIBILITY CLAUSE: If for ANY reason you are unable to take a quiz or hand in an assignment on time it is YOUR responsibility to contact your instructor. If we are not contacted directly or by message before the due date we will not accept late assignments. See the front page of the syllabus for contact information.

7. If you do not think you will be able to abide by these guidelines, please drop the course so that someone else can take it. The last day to drop a course without academic penalty is Tuesday March 16. BUT: if these guidelines seem reasonable to you and you would like to learn about a fascinating period of history and improve your reading, analytical, and writing skills, please stay in the course!
