HIS 712: Slavery in the Americas
Course Syllabus

When we refer to slavery in the United States now, we tend to think of the “Old South,” a mythologized world of cotton, big houses, and magnolias. Southern antebellum slavery, however, was one of the final incarnations of a system of labor that had emerged in the Atlantic almost five hundred years before and had transformed repeatedly before appearing in the Black Belt in the middle of the nineteenth century. From its introduction in the Americas onward, chattel slavery had a profound influence on the colonial societies that emerged in the wake of Columbus’s arrival. Yet, neither the impact nor the character of the institution was uniform. To understand the complexity of slavery, then, it is necessary to trace the institution’s evolution across time and space. This class examines the origins and development of slavery before and after its arrival on the North American mainland and explores the unique nature of slavery in the U. S. while placing the “peculiar institution” in a hemispheric context.

Course Requirements: The requirements for this course include assigned readings for each class and three papers.

Assigned Readings: There are fourteen books assigned for this course. For the list of books, see the class schedule below. In addition, I highly recommend that each of you acquire Robin Blackburn, The Making of New World Slavery: From the Baroque to the Modern, 1492-1800 (London: Verso Press, 1998). All of the books can be purchased at the University Bookstore.

Electronic Devices: The use of laptops, tablets, cellular phones, or any other type of electronic device is prohibited during class.

Attendance and Late Policy: Attendance in class is mandatory. The door will close ten minutes after class starts. Once the door closes, students will no longer be admitted to the class and will be considered absent. Students are allowed one absence, excused or unexcused, without an impact on their grade. For the second and every subsequent absence, students will receive a five-point grade deduction. Students who submit assignments after the deadline will be penalized with a grade deduction based on the lateness of the assignment. No assignments will be accepted one week after the due date. All assignments must be submitted in hard copy.
Plagiarism Policy: The University defines plagiarism as intentionally or knowingly “representing the words of another, as one's own in any academic exercise.”¹ (See the University's Academic Integrity Policy for further information.) All sources (books, articles, documents, etc.) used in any paper or assignment must be properly cited or will be considered plagiarism. Any instance of plagiarism will receive a zero and will be referred to the Dean of Students Office for appropriate action, including suspension or expulsion from the University.

Final Grade Composition

- Participation: 25%
- 8- to 10-page papers (3 x 25%): 75%

Participation: Participation in discussion is mandatory. Students should be prepared to discuss the readings on the day that they are assigned. Attendance alone is not sufficient for full participation credit.

Papers: Students are required to write three eight- to ten-page papers (due on February 16, March 23, and April 27). All sources in the papers should be properly cited according to the guidelines laid out in The Chicago Manual of Style, which is available on-line.
